'Movement in flowers' project

The progression of my practice this year has been to encapsulate movement as well as minor gestural drawings within my work. Through the inspiration of flower-infused paper, I was set in my way to recreate a similar visual aspect on canvas. By implementing these inspirations together, I created a feel of playing with the movement of flowers by using different mediums to make the dry flowers adhere to the canvas but also presenting the paintings in a way where air currents could manipulate the canvas.
